DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over by US 4,266,106 to Shoor in view of US 5,658,260 to Desecki et al. Shoor discloses a connector with an slotted open end parallel with the connector between ribs 49 (see FIG 3), a housing 48, an aperture 43 for receiving a second tubing, a tapered surface, circular, plate-like ribs or tabs 49 that restrict movement and are smaller than the width of the connector 11 that will be inserted therein. Shoor fails to disclose an opening for observing the tubing junction, but Desecki discloses a tubing junction with a slot in the casing that provides a slot for a locking mechanism. The slot may also allow one to observe the connection between the housing and the tubing. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to substitute the rib locking means disclosed by Shoor with the external locking means as disclosed by Desecki in order to provide a second fluid connector and a secure locking means, as taught by Desecki.
3. Claims 13 and 20-27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US 4,266,106 to Shoor in view of US 5,658,260 to Desecki et al., further in view of US 5,437,648 to Graves et al. Shoor discloses the apparatus as claimed with the exception of the size of the slot being smaller than the diameter of the tube therein. Graves discloses a connector with lockable safety assembly that includes latch, 62. The safety assembly includes two open ends for connecting to tubing assemblies and a latch with a slot 72 that receives tubing 36 with a collar 46. The width of the slot 72 is smaller than the diameter of the collar, thereby locking the tubing into place. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to create a slot of an appropriate diameter to retain the tubing therein in order to prevent the connected sections from becoming accidentally disengaged, as taught by Graves.

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
